

Financial Resources and Economic Education (F.R.E.E.) a workbook for English Language Learners

F.R.E.E. was developed by California Literacy, Inc., with funding from the National Endowment for Financial Education® (NEFE®).

© February 2004 National Endowment for Financial Education. All rights reserved.

Funded by the National Endowment for Financial Education® (NEFE®). Grant Project Number 001-04-2002.

This publication is meant to provide general financial information; it is not meant to substitute for, or to supersede, professional or legal advice.

Note: The content areas in this material are believed to be current as of this printing, but, over time, legislative and regulatory changes, as well as new developments, may date this material.

Mention of a trademark, proprietary product, or commercial firm in text or figures does not constitute an endorsement by the publisher and does not imply approval to the exclusion of other suitable products or firms.

Reproduction:

Classroom instructors and tutors of low-English literacy or English-as-a-Second-Language students are permitted to duplicate these materials, without alteration, in whole or in part for the limited purpose of providing this information in printed form without charge to clients and customers. No other reproduction of these materials is permitted without written permission of the copyright holder.

The background of the cover is a collage of various US dollar bills, including $1, $2, $5, and $10 denominations, scattered and overlapping. The bills are slightly faded and tilted, creating a textured, financial theme.

Financial Resources and Economic Education

F.R.E.E.
a workbook for English Language Learners

written by Cathay O. Reta

F.R.E.E. was developed by California Literacy, Inc., with funding from the National Endowment for Financial Education® (NEFE®).

Acknowledgements

The National Endowment for Financial Education®

F.R.E.E. was funded by the National Endowment for Financial Education® (NEFE®), a non-profit foundation dedicated to helping all Americans acquire the information and gain the skills necessary to take control of their personal finances. NEFE primarily accomplishes this mission by partnering with other concerned organizations, such as California Literacy, Inc., to provide financial education to members of the public – in particular, to underserved individuals whose financial education needs are not being addressed by others.

For more information visit the NEFE website at www.nefe.org.

California Literacy, Inc.

California Literacy, Inc. is the oldest and largest statewide adult volunteer literacy organization. Founded in 1956 its purpose is to establish literacy programs and to support them through tutor training, consulting, and on-going education. A private, nonprofit, California Literacy supports programs in more than 250 literacy centers statewide. Through its affiliated programs, over 9,000 volunteers dedicate more than one million hours a year tutoring 35,000 Californians in literacy and English language skills necessary for them to more fully participate in society.

California Literacy's vision for F.R.E.E. is to help meet the needs of immigrants with low English literacy levels. It is designed to help immigrants to gain control over their own finances while improving their English skills. Excerpts from California Literacy's adult learner publication "Good to Know" were used in some of the units.

For more information see the California Literacy website at www.caliteracy.org.

Special Thanks to

Matthew Scelza and Julie Vazquez from California Literacy, for the vision, support and oversight to bring the project to fruition;

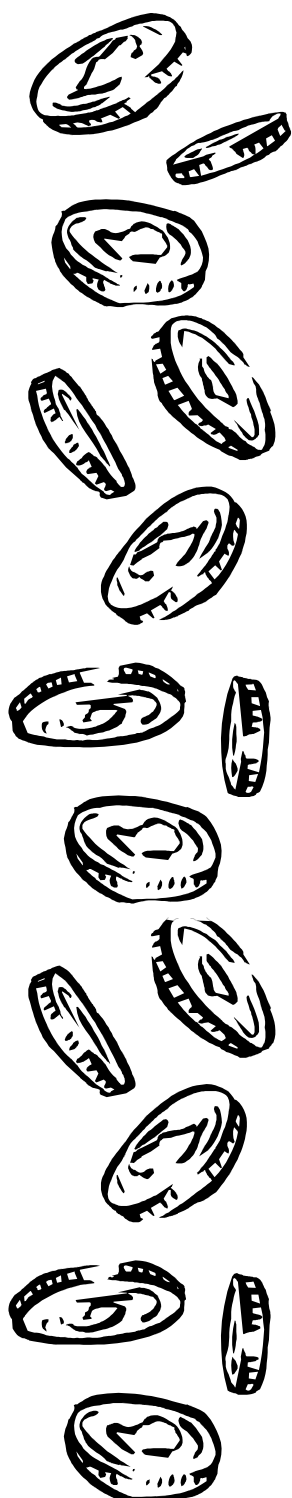

David Rosen and Deborah Schwartz, curriculum evaluators, for their infinite wisdom, insight and experience which brought a greater depth to the materials, and an abundance of resources included in the Appendices;

Martha A. Lane for the framework and development of the "how to teach" portions of the teacher's guide;

Gordon Chen, Din Lai and staff from the Standards Savings Bank, Brenda Jobe of the Vernon-Commerce Credit Union, Sophia Chavez from the Credit Counseling Services of Los Angeles, and Mario Romero and the Melcher Agency for reviewing and giving feedback on various portions of the material;

Chuck Collins and Felice Yeskel and United for a Fair Economy, for their economic education research and information. In particular, we appreciate the use of graphics for the Big Picture sections, taken from "Economic Apartheid in America, a Primer on Economic Inequality & Insecurity," The New Press, New York, 2000

All graphics in F.R.E.E. are from Art Explosion
600,000, Nova Corporation.

F.R.E.E. Table of Contents

| | Page |
|----------------------------------------------------------|-------------|
| Unit 1: You and Your Money | 1 |
| Unit 2: Budgets | 19 |
| Unit 3: Banking – Opening an Account | 39 |
| Unit 4: More Banking – Checks, Savings and ATMs | 65 |
| Unit 5: Tips for Saving Money | 85 |
| Unit 6: Assets: Buying a Home – The Basics | 100 |